A New Story. WE commence to-day the publication of an original story written expressly for The Sun, entitled "Leola; or the Mysterious Ranger." The scenes, characters and incidents of the story are associated with the War of Mexico; and there was, certainly, incident enough in that war to supply the romancist with the choicest materials for a thrilling tale. These have been well worked up in the present story.

The Management of our Markets.

As investigation is proceeding before the Mayor in relation to proceedings in Washington Market, which is calculated to recall public attion to the whole subject of the management of our Public Markets. Yesterday, we published the affidavits of two market men, James Bush-FIELD and JAMES McGovers, in which they charge "black mail" operations against parties named in their affidavits. Bushirield, who is a resident of Jersey City, swears that he and his brother paid $250 each, in the form of a bribe, to secure permits for their stands in Washington Market; and McGovens swears that be was asked to pay for a permit, and after refusing to pay as much as $500, the sum finally named, he was visited by Mr. JAMES IRVING. Superintendent of Markets, Mr. JOHN S. AUSTI. Clerk, who ordered him to cut four feet off his stand on one side.

The impression apparently intended to be created by these affidavits was that the parties who levied, or attempted to levy "black mail,' were acting in concert with, or on behalf of the Superintendent of Markets and his assistants. No proof, however, to this effect has yet been produced, and it may be that the parties who demanded a bribe for their influence in obtaining permits, did so without the knowledge or consent of Mr. IRVING or the Market Clerk. Mr. Invine, indeed, demands the fullest investigation, and we shall be glad if he can fully justify his conduct, and show that he was in no wise cennected with those who have brought his integrity under suspiciou.

We may safely say that it has been a matter of common notoriety among market-men, for years past, that certain means had to be used to secure stands in the public markets. At least. market-men and market-women have so talked. and the public has attached importance to their talk. We had hoped that under our new City Inspector, who has shown such a laudable desire to have all the business of his Department bonestly and faithfully performed, there would have been a thorough correction of the market abuses which have been too long a disgrace to our city. But Mr. DELAVAN has not been entirely a free sgent, and he has, like other heads of Departments, been obliged to succumb to political and personal influences in the ma king of his appointments.

His own nomination and confirmation as City Inspector involved, perhaps, compromises which be could not afterwards entire'v disregard. The Mayor had bis claims upon him, and the Aldermen had their claims, and they again were under obligations which they, undoubtedly, deemed it prudent to discharge. Such is the organi zation of political machinery in this city-and the rule applies to all parties-that persons who by their energy of character and violence of temper obtain an unenviable notoriety before the public, make themselves the most efficient agents in political warfare, and they most imperiously demand their reward. It is easy to clamor for reform and the putting of "good men" in office, but until the "good men" show equal energy in promoting reform that is shown by the professional politicians in obtaining place, the present state of things will continue.

. Our Minister at Pekin.

THE news which we publish to-day by the steamer Jason, contains the pleasing information that Mr. WARD, our Minister to China, had been most courteously received at Pekin, the capital of the Chinese Empire, and expected to be able to forward the ratification of the American treaty with China by the next mail. This news contradicts the romancing of the French journals, that Mr. WARD was carried to Fekin in a box, and was held there, upon his arrival, as a prisoner.

Our peaceable policy has thus secured us the advantage of the English and Freuch Governments, whose blustering and bullying course led to the disastrous affair of the Peiho. Undoubtedly, they will be chagrined at the success of our Minister; and the story circulated regarding the indignities put upon him had its origin, probably, in this feeling.

The author is paster of a church in Philadelphia, and certainly displays much originality is his manner of interpreting the Scriptures and scheme of man's redemption by a Saviour. He is what is called a Literalist, and believes that Christ will come personally a second time, to reign with his saints on the earth during the Millenium. He also believes that the Jews the natural seed of ARRAHAM, will be restored to their own land at the second coming of Christ To illustrate and defend his views is the chief ob ject of the discources. Mr. Wilson has also published and sent us a copy of a little volume entitled, "The Sabbath and its Lord, and the Divine Man," in which h maintains that the Sabbath is a Divine Institution; that its sacred observance is obligatory upon the people, and that it is the duty of Legislators and magistrates to enact and enforce laws against Sabbath desecration.

mitted to hold the armory and the citizens as prisoners:

Some forty or fifty of our citizens were taken and put under guard in the watch house before any one knew that the arsenal and armory was taken. As soon as the report got started that an armed posses had the government buildings and arms in possession, Atax. Kr. Ly and Thos. Boxer, living near me, ran down the street with their shet guns and commenced filing upon the enemy with shot—for I do not think there was a builet then in the hands of a single citizen. In this affair Boxer, was shot, and up to this time I had not gone out, as I had not estimate I had not gone out, as I had not eaten my breakfast, and thought the noise and firing was a drunken spree. I went out in the street at this point and learned the news. I, with others, called upon such citizens as we met to get their arms; no one had any, except here and there a shot gun. At this time it was raid the arsenal armory and Potomac bridge was filled with whites and negroes, prisoners :

armed to the teeth with Sharp's rifles, revolvers and knives.

In a short time some one had entered what is called the "Stock House," outside of the armory enclosure, opposite the "Tit Shep," where arms had been taken to prevent damage by the late frestet, and by this means our citizens were soon furnished with 600 rifles. Then, however, we had no bullets, and they had to cast balls, which was a slow process with two single bullet moulds. Then the large caps for our rifles were necessary, as was powder also. All had been secured by the enemy; those in the buildings they had taken; so, after a delay of three or four hours, a body of citizen-volunteers had three rounds of powder, ball and caps, to march with. Capt. Jons Avis was our commander; he detached me, with eighteen men, to crees the Potomac river at the "old furnace," and to march on the Maryland side to the Battimore and Omb railroad bridge, and take it, if possible.

On arriving at "Pitcher's Mill?" I received, orders

On arriving at "Pitcher's Mill," I received orders by express from Commander Avis to stop the training going East or West, as they might be bringing reinforcements to the one my. I did so. At this point I received an accession of some six men from Duffield's depot, and, with my force, crossed the river as originally ordered, marched to the bridge, and cleared it to the Virginia side, my company kiling one man and raking another prisoner, thus clearing the street on that side of the town, and he ding an important point. Previous to this the "will works" had been carried by another detathment of Avis' forces. One of my men was abot through the shoulder—It is Harner McCaurs son. I had as brave a set of men as ever fired a gun. A portion of my men held the bridge, whilst others were posted in the hotelast the windows and other points, trying to pick off the tenny as they were seen at the "watch-house," for we had enclosed them into that point. No w, all this was done by the citizens of Harper's Perry before any other company arrived there.

I will add, that such a set of braw men as the Insurgents I nover may read about or even heard of None of them pretended to qualitat death, or ask quarter. Their course is astendshing. They are, as far as I have each at 4 with them, intelligent men.

A TRIAL of a rifled six-pounder was made or Monday last, at Flushing, L. I., before several military officers of the Mexican Constitutional Government. The firing was extraordinary, and rivals that of the most complex English and French pieces. The gun is a common bronze cannon, five feet long, weighing 589 pounds, and rifled with eight grooves. The target, 5 by 7 feet, moored at a mile distance, received six out of eight shots fired after the gun was brought to bear upon it, five of which were within twenty inches of the centre of the bull's eye. This success is attributed to a new construction of projectile, invented by the late ANDREW HOTCH-KISS, of Connecticut, and said to have been recently much improved. After the target practice, the muzzle of the gun was elevated, and several shots thrown to distances variously estimated between three and four miles. The projectiles are oblong, weighing nine and threequarter pounds each, and were fired on the long range, with fourteen eunces of DUPERT's pow-

The prisoners were brought into court, accompanied by a body of armed men; they passed through the street and entered the Court House without the slightest demonstration on the part of the people.

Baows looked somewhat better, and his eye was not so much swollen. Streves had to be supported, and reclined on a mattress on the floor of the court room, evidently unable to sit; he has the appearance of a dying man, breathing with grost difficulty.

Before the reading of the arraignment, Mr. Hurrer called the attention of the Court to the necessity of appointing additional counsel for the prisoners, stail z that one of the counsel, (FALKERE,) appointed by the County Court, considering his duty in that capacity as having ended, had left. The prisoners, therefore, had no other counsel than Mr. Borrs. If the Court was about to assign them other counsel, it might be proper to do so now.

The Court stated that it would assign them any members of the bar they might select, and after cousuiting Captain Baows, Mr. Borrs said that the prisoner retained him, and desired to have Mr. Gades, bits assistant, to assist him. Mr. Hunten—The State elects to try John Brown Mr. Borrs saked for delay, for the reasons pre-

Mr. Botts saked for delay, for the reasons previously given by Brows.

Mr. Buster did not think it the duty of the presecutor for the commonwealth, or for one occupying that position, to cips as anything that justice requires, nor to object to anything that justice requires, nor to object to anything that involved a simple consideration of humanity, where it could be properly allowed. Yet in regard to this proposition to clony the trial of Jours Brows, two or three days, they denied it their duty that the Court, be see determining matters, should be put in possession of facts and circumstances judicially, that they were aware of in the line of their duth's as presecutors. His own opinion was that it was not proper to delay the trial of the prisoners a single day, and that there was no noceasity for it.

He alluded in general terms to the condition of things with which they were surrounded. They were such as rendered it dangerous to delay, to say nothing of the exceeding pressure upon the physical resources of the community, growing out of the circumstances connected with affairs for which the prisoners were to be tried. In reference to the physical condition of Brows, he asked the Court not to receive the unimportant statement of the prisoners as sufficient ground for delay, but that the jailor and physicians be examined. As to expecting counsel from abroad, he said that no impediment had been thrown in the way of the prisoners procuring such counsel as they desired; but, on the contrary, every facility had been assigned them here, and he apprehended there was little reason to expect the attendance of these gentiement from the North who had been written.

nity of corsulting with the prisoner, or preparing a defence. The letters for Northern counsel had been sent off, but sufficient time had not been afforded to sent cff, but rufficient time find not, been afforded to receive answers.

The Court states that if physical inability were shown, a reasonable delay must be granted. As to the expectation of other counsel, that did not constitute a sufficient cause for delay, as there was no certainty about their coming under the circumstances in which the prisoners were situated, it was natural that they should seek delay. The brief period remaining before the close of toe term of the Court, rendered it necessary to proceed as expeditiously as practicable, and to be cautious about granting delays. He would request the physician who attended Brown to testify as to his condition.

Dr. Masor thought that Brown was able to ge on understandingly with the triel. He did not think his wounds were such as to affect his mind or recollection. He had always conversed freely and intelligently about this affair. He had heard him complain of debility, but not of hardness of hearing.

From there to the mouth of the Ohio it averages 3,200 feet; from the Ohio to the Arkansas about 3,000 feet; from the Arkansas to the Red River, about 2,700 feet, and from the Red River to the Gulf of Mexico the average width is about 2,100 feet. Yet with this constant narrowing of the river the volume of water to be discharged is constantly increasing. Hence it is contended, come those bayous which start out of the river and leaf away into the swamps and down in various discharged is the start out of the river and leaf away into the swamps and down in various discharged is the swamps and down in various discharged in the swamps and down in various discharged is the swamps and down in various discharge

The complaint states that the plaintiffs entered into an agreement, in June last, with Mr. Ulman, by which they were to have the exclusive sale and disposal of all "librettes" of operas, and other printed matter at the Academy of Music, both in the city of New York and elsewhere, for the sum of $4.000, to be paid, by the terms of said agreement, to D. Kingsland, the Treasurer of the Academy of Music. It also states that on or about the 7th of June, the defendant Isaac Jacobson falsely represented to them, the plaintiffs, that he was authorised by Mr. Ulman to accept of two promiseory notes of one thousand dollars each, in the Lame of said Kingsland, Treasurer, &c., to apply on the payment of said sum of $4.000, to be paid for the libratics, &c.: that thereupon the plaintiffs executed their note, Gosche making, and Paimer endorsing it, and on the strength of such representations dolivered it to said Jacobson, payable in four and five months, with the understanding that he was at once to deliver them to Ulman or Kingsland to apply as a foresaid. The complaint then goes on to state that instead of handing the notes over to Ulman or Kingsland, Jacobson wrongfully retained them, and placed them in the hands of Duncan, Sherman & Co., as collateral to an old dobt. On affidavits setting fourt him statement of facts, the plaintiffs some time last month obtained a temporary injunction restraining the defendants from disposing of the notes, with an order to show cause why the injunction should not be made permanent, and why the notes should not be delivered up to the plaintiffs, to be carcelled. That order now came on for argument, and the defendant, Jacobson, dunies all the allegations of the complaint, and alleges that he depended the note with Duncan, Sherman & Co., to apply on a debt of Ulman's.

MEEKS, JAMES TIMENEY, Secretaries.

The Board of Managers of the Colored Or-PHAN ASYLUM respectfully invite the attention of the public to the pressing want of their Institution at this time.

In the absence of our fellow-citizens during the sum-mer little assistance was rendered, at the same time the Institution was incurring debts for current expen-ses. Fuel, clothing, &c. have to be provided for the coming winter.

one of the causes of their present indebtedness, is highly essential to the health and comfort of the establishment.

The average number of children is 219, and the demands upon the Managers are urgent for the homeless orphan and the child of the widowed parent.

The forethought and anxiety arising from the care of so large an establishment can scarcely be realized by those who have not deeply participated in its responsibilities, and the Managers may acknowledge the inadequate performance of many of their duties; still they are cheered with the reflection that the Institution is progressive, that their schools are well conducted, and that the instruction is thorough and practical.

Since the crection of the Hospital building, the Managers have had the privilege of admitting diseased children, some fifty of whom are usually under care. Could they induce the friends of the Institution, whose bounty has provided so appropriate a home, to visit and carefully inspect each department, they feel confident that the comfort, neatness, economy and order of its arrangements would ensure approbation.

They are not unmindful of past favors, and for these they would renew their obligations, but the actual wants of the present time demand this appeal.

Contributions will be gratefully received by MARY MASON, First Directress, 12 Seventh st.
